LORIS DRAGO

Born in Padua in 1987, Loris Drago refined his craft at the Brera Academy of Fine Arts in Milan, where he graduated as a Master of Painting

Through numerous collaborations with artistic craftsmen and prestigious commissions, he has developed an extensive technical repertoire for the realization of large-scale and bespoke artistic projects

His creations go beyond design: each space becomes a living artwork, where beauty reflects the values of his clients and resonates with his personal vision of culture, nature, and art

CRAFTED FOR YOU

I offer bespoke painting directly within your space, creating atmospheres that transform interiors into living works of art

Through mood boards and sketches, each project is conceived as an artistic journey, shaping interiors into unique worlds

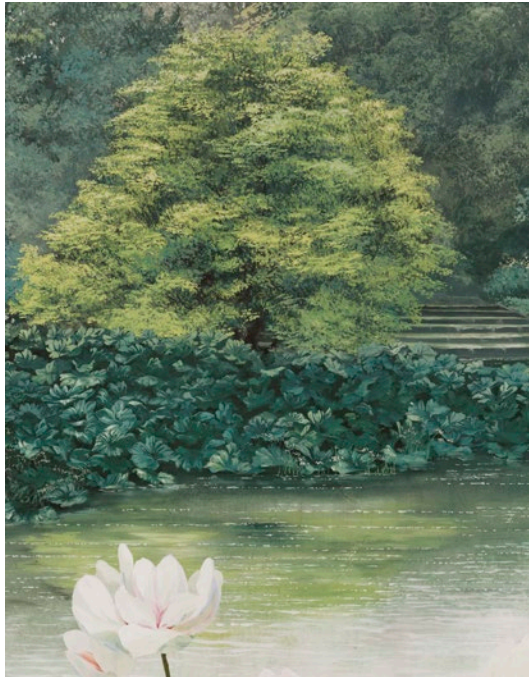

Original artworks translated into exclusive wallcoverings, crafted to bring unique atmospheres into any interior

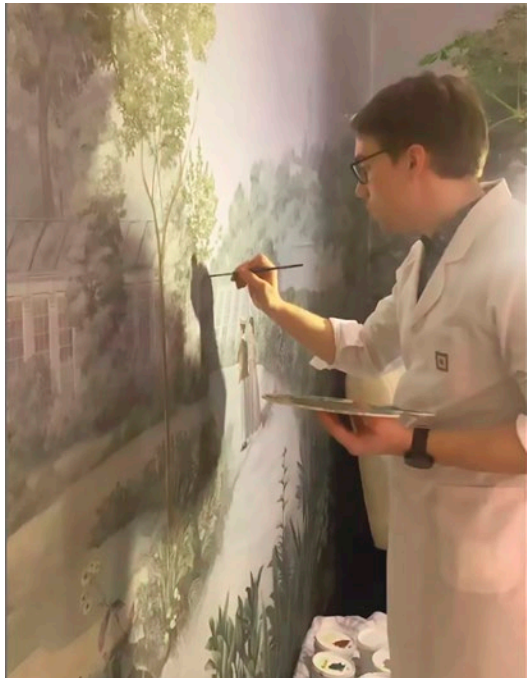

Large scale hand painted artworks translated into high-resolution digital files, ready for production. I take care of the entire process

A close-up photograph of a person's hand painting a wall. The hand is holding a red-handled brush and is in the process of applying teal-colored paint to a cluster of leaves. The wall has a rough, textured surface. To the right, there is another painted area with dark green and reddish-brown leaves. The word "PROJECTS" is overlaid in white, serif, all-caps font in the center of the image.
